FREE TECHNICAL COURSES FOR THE NEEDY

Vocational education programs will make a real difference in the lives of countless young people belonging to the economically fragile section of India.

They will help the youth to learn the skills they need to enter the workforce and provides them with the opportunity to explore different careers.

They will also build confidence, leadership skills and employability quotient in the youth by utilising their unique gifts and talents.

PROJECT BHAVISHYA is an endeavour by Bhagyoday Charitable Trust to provide free vocational education in Government approved Industrial Training Institutes (ITI) in Mumbai for youth between the ages of 16 and 30 of both male and female genders.

If you or anyone you know want to register for Project Bhavishya, please fill up the enrolment form and submit it to our office. You can also browse through the courses available (attached with the form).

Bhagyoday Charitable Trust dreams of a future India that is skilled and employment-ready. Together, we can make it happen.
